FADE IN:

INT. RABINDRA SADAN METRO STATION, CALCUTTA - EVENING

JIM takes a ticket at a counter of the Rabindra Sadan metro railway station and sits on a bench on the platform on which one another person is also sitting.

SAME PLACE - LATER

He feels dejected and seems to be lost in deep thoughts.

He recalls his girl friend who he loved very much. He had planned to marry her but everything went wrong for no good reason.

JIM is so lost that he misses trains after trains.

RAILWAY ANNOUNCEMENT (V.O.)

May I have your attention please.
The metro railway service is going to close for the day as an accident took place at a nearby station.

JIM jerks from the trance, stands up and sets his bag on his shoulder. The announcement goes on alerting the passengers.

JIM mumbles and prepares to leave. His eyes fall on the LED display signs - February 14, 8: 00 PM, EXIT. JIM walks to the EXIT.

EXT. OUT OF METRO RAILWAY STATION - LATE EVENING

JIM waits for a vehicle to Dum Dum. Meanwhile he feels a little hungry. He checks his watch and decides to have something first. He crosses the road and enters the Haldiram's just opposite to the metro railway station.

INT. HALDIRAM'S OUTLET - SAME TIME

JIM orders for some fast food and sits at a table. Yet again he is lost in some old memories.

Eventually his eyes fall on three girls at a table just a little away from his. He narrows his eyes at the back of a girl. He stands up and comes to the table. The girl turns her head to JIM.

SHONA

The other two girls look at them with wide eyes but do not understand anything.

JIM gazes at SHONA's neck. She does not wear mangal sutra.

JIM

I thought you got married.

SHONA

I thought you've forgot me.

JIM

I cannot live without you. How can I forget you?

They hug and kiss each other.

SHONA

Where have you been so far?

JIM

Your brother told me you got married. So...

SHONA

My brother said something else about you as well.

JIM

Oh no!

They hug each other once again. All the people around are amazed.
